Privacy and Information Management Policy

1) Storage

- (i) All electronic based documents must be stored in a cloud based storage system.
- (ii) All paper-based documents should be converted into an electronic version and uploaded to a cloud based storage system, the paper-based documents should be stored in a locked file cabinet or destroyed.

2) Transfer of documents

- (i) Ensure necessary consents have been obtained before transferring any document containing personal or sensitive data.
- (ii) All confidential documents (physical or digital) should be clearly marked as "Confidential."
- (iii) For internal document transfers: digital transfers should use secure, approved, company-controlled systems (like an intranet or secure shared drives) and access be restricted to the document to only those who need it. Physical documents should be transferred directly hand-to-hand wherever possible. If this is not feasible, use internal mail services with a traceable delivery process.
- (iv) For external document transfers: digital transfers should preferably be encrypted before transmission and use secure, approved methods (like secure email, secure file transfer protocol (SFTP), or encrypted cloud services). The encryption key/password should be shared via a separate, secure communication method. For sending physical documents outside of the organisation, use a reliable courier service that offers secure, traceable delivery. The documents should be packed in tamper-evident packaging.

- (iii) Unneeded working documents or copies of confidential information should be securely placed in designated bins or sufficiently shredded using cross-cut shredders for optimal security.
- (iv) In cases of highly confidential documents, extra measures such as engagement of certified document destruction services may be warranted.
- (v) Documents devoid of confidential content may be suitably recycled.
- (vi) Prior to disposing of any electronic media, including computers, hard drives, USB keys, etc., Workers must ensure these devices are properly sanitised.
